Physicians and druggists recommend it. The BEST TONIC. Quickly and completely cures Dyspepsia in all its forms. Heartburn, Belching, Flatulence, Food, etc. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, and aids the assimilation of food. Rev. J. J. It is highly effective and a splendid tonic and invigorant, and very strengthening." Hon. Joseph C. Smith, Judge of Circuit Court, Clinton Co., Ind., says: "I bear most cheerful testimony to the efficacy of Brown's Iron Bitters for Dyspepsia, and as a tonic." "Take no other." Made only by Dr. J. C. CHINESE MINISTER BACK.

HE COMES BACK TO AMERICAN IMPROVED HEALTH.

He Says That He Found No Place Abroad That is Preferable to Washington. Rudeness of the People When Mrs. Cleveland is to Be Seen in Public.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Chinese minister is back from his European trip, much improved in health and more than ever delighted with Washington. He says he did not find anything while abroad which he thought preferable to Washington, and he comes back well contented with his prospects for a three years' stay here. He may also have to go briefly to Peru, to which he is also the accredited minister, but that will not be before next year. He is more attached to Washington than before, and would probably prefer it to anything except his own native land. They all look forward with pleasure to their return home.

His stay here will be about five years. That of many of the attaches is greater than this length of time. Mr. Tan, who accompanied the minister to Spain, had been in Cuba as representative of his government for eight years. He was permitted to return home when he had finished his tour of Europe with the minister. Some of the people who are now with the legation have been away from home and their families about the same time. Most of them are family men, and if you ask some fellow who is prancing about with the ladies in society, about his own family relations at home, he will probably tell you that he has a wife and half a dozen children. Asked why they don't bring their families with them, they usually make some indifferent answer, saying that their ladies are very timid, and would not like so long an ocean voyage.

The minister comes back much improved. He is as brown as a native American, just from the seaside, and has added several pounds to his avoirdupois since he left. Not that he needed them particularly, for he was a well developed man, weighing probably 175 pounds, but his cheeks are fuller, and he has more the appearance of perfect health than when he went away. He brings with him some fine gems captured during his visit to Paris, for he is immensely wealthy and can gratify his taste in that direction with the greatest ease. One of these is a fine emerald which decorated the crown of Napoleon. It is large and of a deep color, and is surrounded with a double row of fine diamonds, whose clear brilliancy set off the central gem to perfection. There are between forty and fifty of these diamonds.

In addition to these, each of the heavy gold arms or clasps which hold the immense emerald in place, is surmounted at its point with a tiny diamond, making a unique and valuable ornament. And how do you suppose he wears this peculiar shaped and costly decoration? Why upon his cap. He wears on all occasions a black skull cap, surmounted with a red button, an insignia of rank. On the front of the cap he wears this costly and historical ornament. He takes a good deal of pleasure in showing it to his friends, and explaining its history, for it is of course a most rare and valuable article, and it is admired by all who have seen it. I remonstrated with him for wearing so rare and valuable a gem, in a way that would make it so easy for him to be robbed of it. "It would be so easy for some one to slip up behind you," I said, "and snatch the cap from your head and get away with it." He looked worried at this, and asked if I thought there would be any danger in his wearing the ornament to the theater. He remarked that he had been pretty careful about it while he was traveling abroad, but he thought the people of this country were too honest to do anything like that.

It was very painful to undecieve him, but it seemed absolutely necessary to explain to him that there were a few people even in this fine country who might be guilty under pressing circumstances of snatching a man's cap from his head from behind and running away with it, or even of cracking him over the head to get it, where the temptation was so great as in this case. Another curious and valuable ornament which the minister wears is a huge thumb ring, set with large emerald, and having a row of diamonds running around the entire circumference of the ring. The material of which the ring is made is some fragment of wood from his own country, very choice and costly, as much above sandal wood as sandal wood is beyond pine. It is cut out in the form of a ring about one inch in width, and just long enough to fit on his long, tapering thumb. A row of very brilliant diamonds extends around this, running along the center of the ring and clear around the thumb, which it incases. Then at the top is a large emerald, not so large as that upon his cap, but a very large one, surrounded with a line of smaller diamonds.

Anxiety to See Mrs. Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—There seems to be a general anxiety on the part of the public to see Mrs. Cleveland. People who saw her during the return trip from New England say the crowding and anxiety to gaze upon her was simply disgraceful. On the boat the people stumbled over each other and crowded upon her as though she were some inmate of the menagerie. Women even went so far as to go and open the door of her stateroom and look in, and then apologize for their rudeness by telling a lie and saying they thought it was somebody else's room. When she went to dinner on the boat there was such a rush for the table that it was necessary to put guards at the door to keep back the crowd.

Even here where she has now lived for more than a year, she is the center of observation when she goes out shopping or for other purposes. She is quite fond of shopping and is a great favorite with the local dealers, and she always buys the best line of goods without paying fancy prices. She is pretty well known at all the leading business houses on F street and Pennsylvania avenue, and there is always a lively competition among the clerks for the privilege of waiting upon her. Sometimes she enters a store where the crowd is unusually large, but she invariably waits her turn and makes no effort to take precedence over the other customers.

Irish Commissioner Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The president to-day appointed Professor G. Brown Goode, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, to be United States fish commissioner, Solicitor McCue having declined to accept the position.

Professor Goode now holds exactly the same place in the Smithsonian which Professor Baird held when he was appointed fish commissioner. His qualifications for the office are undoubted and he will no doubt accept the position. He has been associated with the fish commission from its very inception, and has performed valuable services in connection with it. His experience goes back to 1871. In 1875 he was employed in connection with the government fishery board for the centennial exhibition in 1877 as statistical expert in behalf of the state department at Halifax, and in 1878 in behalf of the National museum at Gloucester. He was one of the party at the coast stations taking part in the marine explorations. He represented the United States at the fishery exhibitions at Berlin and London in 1880 and 1883.

Solicitor McCue, when asked to-day why he declined to accept the position, modestly declined answering the question, but it is understood that his declination is due to a ichthyological attainment and inability to fulfill the requirements of the law, which limits the appointment to "a civil officer of the government of proved scientific and practical acquaintance with the fishes of the coast."

A New Republic.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 31.—Mr. William Spreckle, of San Francisco, a nephew of Claus Spreckles, the "sugar king" of the Sandwich Islands, is in the city. He was for eight years attached to the royal household of the Hawaiian king. Said he to-day: "I think the Hawaiian king will be deposed inside of a year, and a republic set up in the islands. Kalakaua's pretty court is modeled after that of the British queen, and the people are tired of paying for this mimic royalty, which costs quite as much as the genuine article. The king himself is popular for his hale-fellow-well-met style, and that is all that keeps him on his throne. His majesty can be seen in front of the bar of the principal Honolulu saloon sipping a cocktail with any one of his subjects who will pay for it. The new ministry just formed in the islands is the first step toward the formation of the republic."

Bookkeeper Arrested.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 31.—John Harris, a bookkeeper, was arrested here to-day charged with victimizing several Illinois firms in sums ranging from $1,500 to $4,000. One of his victims was Hess & Co., stove manufacturers of Chicago. Two Peoria firms also suffered through his manipulations. He was arrested on the strength of a telegram from the chief of police of Chicago. Byron M. Howard, of Chicago, was also taken into custody charged with obtaining a loan of $2,900 from the German and American Loan & Trust company, of Philadelphia, by false representation. Both prisoners are held for requisitions from the governors of their respective states.

General Black and the G. A. R.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—Gen. Black has been severely spoken of by several prominent men in G. A. R. circles. At the coming reunion he will endeavor to right some of these wrongs. He has already prepared a series of resolutions which he will present at the reunion. They are a bitter denunciation of the course of Tuttle and Fairchild, and amount, if adopted, virtually to an expulsion of these men from the order. Gen. Black will present them, or see that they are presented, and if they are not adopted a large number of Democrats of the east will withdraw from the G. A. R.

Suicide on an Elevated Road.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 31.—A man apparently forty-five years of age, threw himself from the platform of the elevated road at the Lexington and Summer avenue station yesterday evening falling in front of a train. He was torn to pieces by the locomotive, and portions of his body fell to the street below. In the man's pocket was a card bearing the words, "My address, A. Gally, 315 Broadway, New York." There was also $7 in money and some circulars of eating houses.

Work Stopped in the Lehigh Mine.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—A suspension of work has been ordered in the mines of the Lehigh region. This has been made necessary by the large accumulation of coal at Amboy and other points. The Lehigh company has overshipped its allotment of production by 500,000 tons. It is believed that other companies will at different times between now and November order a short suspension of work.

Short in His Accounts.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 31.—William Beyer, employed as bookkeeper for W. W. Tyler, a large lumber dealer and vessel owner, is short in his accounts about seven thousand dollars. Beyer was allowed to resign a week ago, when it became known that there was a shortage and fled the town. A warrant is out for his arrest.

OLD WORLD CABLE NEWS.

RUSSIA ATTRACTING THE ATTENTION OF ALL THE OTHER POWERS.

The Tone of the French Press Toward the Czar's Government Likely to Take a Sudden and Sweeping Change—Ferdinand Selects a Prime Minister—Notes.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The tone of the French press toward Russia is quite likely to take a speedy and sweeping change, for their present temper is not at all indicative of the real sentiment entertained by the politicians, statesmen and journalists of the republic in regard to the northern power. The caressing and deprecatory language common to the Parisian press from the Debats to the Soir but thinly veils the anxiety felt as to the future course of the czar's empire and the real sentiment of his advisers.

The fear and indignation with which they observe Russia coquetting with Germany now and then give place to hope and gratulation, when such incident as a German baiting in Russia seems to strain beyond endurance the relations between the two empires, but conviction is gradually possessing the French mind that Germany can outbid France in the rivalry for Russian alliance, and that the czar's government would not hesitate long were the Muscovite power compelled to choose between the two nations.

There is without doubt an intense dislike of German emigrants felt by the lower and middle class of Russians, who cannot compete with the Germans either as skilled laborers or as traders, but the German element can be quietly boycotted in Russia without giving the victims any opportunity for serious complaint, since it is not probable that any further manifestations of Russian hatred for German competition involving force or violent expulsion will be permitted by the authorities.

It is quite obvious that the French newspapers are eagerly awaiting a possible difference between Germany and Russia over the Bulgarian question, but it is not likely that they will have an opportunity to display their talent for fine writing upon the subject. Russia seems to be abundantly able to shape the policy of the nations around her by simply keeping quiet and awaiting the gravitation of events. She can at any time place herself in a position to rely implicitly upon the friendship of Germany by giving that nation a guarantee of Russian neutrality in case of war between Germany and France, and if Ferdinand does not speedily display a proper amount of subservience the porte, at the instance of the czar, can make it extremely uncomfortable for the Bulgarian adventurer without fear that Germany will interfere in his behalf. If Russia can be assured of the neutrality of Germany in Bulgaria, and it is thus seen that she can, she has no vital need of an alliance with France.

The Czar Ill.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31.—The czar contracted a cold on his journey between Cronstadt and Copenhagen, and has since suffered from an acute attack of rheumatism in his left shoulder. He was unable to attend church on Sunday, as he was expected to, being confined to his room and compelled to carry his arm in a sling.

Ferdinand's Prime Minister.

SOFIA, Aug. 31.—M. Stambuloff has informed Prince Ferdinand that he will undertake to form a ministry.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Chief Colorow Declares That He Will Not Return to the Reservation.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 31.—There has been no renewal of hostilities, but the Indians are angry over the death of a number of their men. The situation at Rangely is considered critical, and the force there has been largely increased. In the face of the arrival of the state troops a number of volunteers who are not under restraint have returned to Meeker. Four companies of colored troops from Fort DuChesne are hunting Indians, but Colorow has declared he will not go on the reservation. The Utes have added large accessions to their numbers, and those in front assert that fully six hundred of them are out. John McAndrews, the government herder, thinks this number is overrated, but it is known that seventy-three Southern Utes have gone north on a hunting pretext.

They have been very curious lately, and anxious to learn of the situation north, and should they join the others and become inflated with the war spirit they will materially strengthen the hostiles. In the recent engagement Kendall succeeded in depriving the Indians of 400 ponies, and these Colorow has demanded. He succeeded in running some of them off, but Kendall refused to surrender the others unless the Indians for whom he has warrants are delivered to him. This, of course, Colorow refused to do. The situation does not improve. Gen. Crook find that he will be compelled to use troops against both parties to enforce peace. He confessed when the disturbance began that he knew little of the Utes, and the fact that he has gone alone to settle the affair indicates that he has no conception of the magnitude of the task.

Schooner Sank.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The tug Imperator collided with the schooner H. N. Haven's this morning. The schooner was cut in two and sank immediately, and one of her crew was drowned. The tug was standing over from Bayonne to Red Hook, and the schooner was beating her way up the bay. Just as the tug was about to pass the Haven's, Capt. Nelson, who was at the wheel of the former, leaned over to close a window in the pilot house. As he did so he slipped and the motion of his body threw the wheel over so that the tug headed for the schooner into which she crashed sinking her.

Testimony of the Ives Case.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The testimony taken before Referee Noah Davis, in the attempt to find where Ives' missing books are, had been all written out to-day, and this morning all the witnesses examined had signed their testimony with the exception of H. S. Ogden, who is ill, and Ives, Doremus and Staynor, who will not do so unless compelled by the court, until that part of their replies is stricken out which was given in answer to the referee's question.

ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN DEFIED.

Members of a German Protestant Church Rebel Against His Latest Order.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Archbishop Corrigan is determined that German Catholics shall neither dance nor drink beer at picnics held under the auspices of the church after 6 o'clock in the evening. The members of the Sick and Aid society of St. Peter's German Protestant church arranged to hold a festival here last evening. Sunday the assistant priest of St. Peter's, Father Liebhause, read from the altar a letter from the archbishop stating that if the picnic was held no beer must be sold and that there should be no dancing permitted. Despite the warning the picnic was held, beer was drank and dancing went on. The Germans say they have always drank beer and danced when they felt like it, and yet have been faithful to the church.

It was in St. Peter's church that there was a war for a year or so between congregation and chief priest (Rev. Father Sieglack), which ended in the priest's removal. The defiance of the archbishop's order causes comment in church circles, following, as it does, close upon the heels of the non-compliance of the members of the Gentlemen's Catholic Temperance society of Kingston, who went on an excursion last week after being forbidden to do so by the Very Rev. James Dougherty, dean of this diocese. A leading member of the church said the "Germans had decided that they would not be pulled around by the nose by the archbishops or anybody else in social matters."

Blown to Atoms.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Aug. 31.—Robert Martin was killed, George Lawson fatally, and four others badly injured by an explosion of dualin at Draper colliery, Gilberton, yesterday morning. At the bottom of the slope is a miner's supply house, where the men were receiving dualin. Martin was handling a stick when a spark from his lamp fell on the primed end and exploded it, blowing Martin into an unrecognizable mass of flesh, which had to be shoveled into a box for transfer to his late home. George Lawson had one leg and an arm blown off and is otherwise injured so that death is only a question of a few hours. Strangely enough, in the boot of the uninjured leg was a stick of dualin that was not exploded. The injuries of the others are not serious. The accident is one of the strangest ever known here.

Brutally Assaulted.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—While standing on a car crossing of the Newport bridge at 2 o'clock a. m., Frank Jacoby, night yard-master of the Louisville Short Line railroad, was struck on the head by a bowlder thrown by some unknown person. He would have fallen from the train to instant death but for the prompt action of a brakeman. He has remained unconscious, and of course could give no clue to his assailant. It is thought that his skull is fractured.

Struck Gas in Blue Shale.

AKRON, O., Aug. 31.—Drillers at the F. Schumacher Milling Co.'s gas well, at Cascade mill, struck gas last night in blue shale, 500 feet down. The gas ignited and flames shot up above the derrick and the apparatus was with difficulty saved. The well will be dug deeper and shut. It has excellent prospects.

An Embalmed Two-Headed Child.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 31.—The embalmed body of a two-headed infant was received here to-day from Yale by Professor Moses C. White, of the Yale Medical school. The infant lived but twelve minutes after its birth. It will be used by the professor in illustrating his lectures before the medical students.

Window Glass Strike.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—To-morrow the two weeks' vacation of the window glass blowers ends, but they will not return to work September 1, their demand for a ten per cent. increase having been refused. The glass blowers get from $1,500 to $3,000 per year. There is every indication of a long struggle.

Took Part With the Hogs and Dogs.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Aug. 31.—Coroner T. J. Crawley's hogs have been tormented by Henry Clay Hoover's dogs. The respective owners of the belligerent hogs and dogs armed with shotguns and became participants in the fracas. Both were wounded and are now under arrest.

Shot By Unknown Parties.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Aug. 31.—George Arnett, a farmer residing near Rome, Ill., was waylaid Saturday night and shot three times by unknown parties. He will hardly recover. Arnett was a very quarrelsome man, and the shooting is supposed to be the result of an old feud.

A Murderer's Fate Ended.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 31.—Montgomery, the murderer, ended his ten days' fast yesterday morning by eating a hearty meal. Turnkey Davis informed the prisoner that arrangements had been made with two doctors to pump a good meal into his stomach. He thereupon ordered dinner.

Jockey West's Condition.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Jockey West, who was injured yesterday in the first race, at last accounts this afternoon was still alive, but still in a precarious condition. His right side is paralyzed, and his skull is injured. The chances for his recovery are very slight.

THE LEVANNA FIRE.

Further Particulars of the Destructive Conflagration.

A brief account was given yesterday of the terrible fire that visited the town of Levanna, three miles below Ripley, Monday afternoon. A special gives further particulars of the disastrous blaze.

The fire started in a residence near the central part of the town. Fanned by a brisk breeze that was blowing at the time the flames spread rapidly. Higginsport and Ripley both responded promptly to calls for help. Notwithstanding the heroic efforts of the citizens, aided by three fire engines, but little was accomplished towards checking the progress of the fire. Store, stables, residences and buildings of every description were rapidly consumed. The Boyd Lumber Mills and a large quantity of lumber were destroyed.

Thirty-two buildings in all were burned, leaving but a few cottages, in the outer edge of the town standing. The statement is made that three hundred people are rendered homeless. Assistance is being given by the citizens of the surrounding country. The loss is keenly felt, as the town was made up almost entirely of workmen.

The loss is placed at $100,000 by one report, but this is probably too high. The loss to the owners of the mill, Vinson, Goble & Prichard and Wheeler & Dusenberry, is given at $50,000. They paid $23,250 for the property last week. It has not been learned what amount of insurance was carried.

One report is that three lives were lost in the mill—a negro named Robinson, and a man named Johnson and his wife, of Ripley.

Attempted Rape Near Flemingsburg.

A special from Flemingsburg brings the news of another attempted rape in that vicinity. It says: "Charles Coleman, a big burly negro, who has been in the courts already, will have a hearing before Mayor Yantis Saturday, charged with attempting to commit a rape Sunday night. The negro entered the home of Mrs. James Ringwood, a widow, knocked the woman down, inflicting serious injuries, and also knocked down a young lady from Maysville, visiting Mrs. Ringwood. The latter was the object of his brutal desires, but the screams of the two women brought neighbors, and Coleman fled. He was captured soon after. As there have been nearly a dozen such cases in the county within a few weeks Coleman will likely be used roughly, his being the first arrest."

Another report says Mrs. Ringwood's home is near Bald Hill, that county, and that the name of the young lady from this city is Miss Nellie Sweeney.

Hayswood Seminary.

Workmen are employed putting Hayswood Seminary in good condition for the opening of the fall term, Monday, September 5th.

With the addition of Miss Mary Topp, the corps of teachers remain the same as last year, excepting Miss Lyon, who has been obliged to resign on account of the sudden death of her father. Her place will be filled by Miss Agnes E. Foster, a graduate from the same school of art as Miss Lyon, the College of Fine Arts of the Syracuse University, New York. Miss Foster has also spent an entire year in New York City, completing her studies under some of the best artists in this country.

Persons interested in drawing and painting will find it greatly to their advantage to call at the seminary and see Miss Foster's credentials, as they are of the highest character.

A Big Check.

One of the biggest checks ever drawn in this city was forwarded this morning by Sheriff Perrine to James W. Tate, State Treasurer, at Frankfort. It was for $37,700, about the amount of State taxes due from Mason County the present year. Sheriff Perrine is always prompt in making his settlements. If the Sheriff of any other county gets ahead of Dan'll he will have to do some hustling.

"Say, why is everything either at sixes or at sevens?" Probably, my dear nervous sister, because you are suffering from some of the diseases peculiar to your sex. THE local agents of the Cincinnati breweries are engaged in a lively fight. If we are correctly informed, it's a "combine" against the Moerleins. The price has been cut to one dollar and seventy-five cents a keg, and promises to go still lower. But the "consumer" still pays his five cents a glass.

THOMAS J. HENRY, JR., nephew of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and a young man named Christian are rivals for the hand of one of Fayette County's fair maidens. They quarreled at the home of their sweetheart Sunday evening, and in the fight that followed Henry was shot through the hips, the ball, a thirty-four calibre, inflicting a dangerous wound.

THE third meeting of the Fleming County Teachers' Association will be held at Mt. Carmel next Saturday. This is to be an important meeting and great preparations have been made to make it a success and to entertain all visitors. THE Licking Association of Particular Baptists will hold their next annual meeting with Drift Run Church, Robertson County, on the 9th, 10th, and 11th of September. About sixty messengers and twenty preachers, among the latter Elder Durand, of Pennsylvania, and Elders Francis and Smoot, of Virginia, will be present. The party will come by way of the Kentucky Central leaving the train at Helena and Falmouth, where they will be met by carriages and conveyed to Drift Run.

THE interior of the Presbyterian Church at Mayslick has undergone a wonderful change in the last few days. A Cincinnati artist, W. A. Lay, has been displaying his genius in stencil, fresco and handpainting on the walls and ceiling, which are laid off in handsome panels brought out by heavy beveled mouldings. In the rear of the pulpit is a pretty design in Gothic architecture. Surmounting this in the form of a crescent is the motto armorial—"Holiness to the Lord."

CATHOLIC CONVENTION.

AVERY IMPORTANT MEETING TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO.

The First General Assembly of the American German Catholic Association—Societies Embraced in the Meeting—Expected Attendance of Ten Thousand.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—During the first part of the coming month there will be held in this city a convention, the importance of which cannot be overestimated. On the evening of the 6th inst., in the large hall of Battery D, the first general assembly of the American German Catholic association will be called. This is the first of its kind in America.

The assemblage will embrace the society of the American German priests, with a membership of over five hundred; representatives from each German benevolent society in the country, and the American German Catholic Press association, also, German representative men of the faith from all parts of the country, independent of any connection with the above organizations. Such a gathering of notable men is bound to attract the most intense interest from everybody familiar with current affairs. The convention will be held from day to day and until its work and deliberations have been ended, which are not likely to last over a few days. The daily attendance at such a convention will only be limited by the capacity of the hall.

In conversation with a Catholic gentleman of prominence it was learned that the attendance will probably be in the vicinity of ten thousand persons. To preside over this vast assemblage is a most distinguished honor. This honor has been conferred upon Rev. Father William Tappert, pastor of the church of the Mother of God, of Covington, Ky. The Rev. Father was chosen at the last meeting of the central society at Toledo. Bishop Johannes Vertin, of Marquette, Mich., and Bishop Winand Wigger, of Newark, N. J., will be honorary presidents of the association.

The fact that the convention has been called, will be conducted and everything pertaining to the result of the deliberations will be in the name of the American German branch of the church, has caused a very extensive opinion that the convention was a decided slap at the Irish branch of the church. To ascertain the feeling of the local Catholic clergy in the matter, a call was made on several of the leading members of the priesthood within the past few days. While the gentlemen were adverse to their names appearing in print they unanimously and without any hesitation said there were absolutely no grounds for such rumors. This was confirmed by priests of both Irish and the German speaking congregations. It is the information of the gentlemen that the deliberations will be in German as a matter of convenience to the German speaking citizens who will attend. Of course the doors will be thrown wide open and exhaustive reports of the proceedings will be given to the country through the press.

The aim of the congress is enumerated in the case as follows.

First—To acknowledge our Catholic faith open and free.

Second—To acknowledge our love to the holy church and to the apostolic chair.

Third—As American German Catholics to acknowledge obedience to our superiors.

Fourth—To strengthen our brotherly support.

The American-German Press society will convene the day following the Catholic association. Its aim is to work together in the real Catholic spirit; to further friendly feelings between the publishers and editors of the American-German Catholic press, and to further the material prosperity of the Catholic press.
